

Record Low In Polls

23 Per Cent Have Faith In Johnson

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson suffers another setback in the polls, former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace plans a return campaign engagement in California and Shirley Temple Black seeks election today to a congressional seat from the Golden State.

The Louis Harris Poll, published Monday in the Washington Post, reported that a record low 23 per cent of those responding to the poll late last month have confidence in Johnson personally and in his handling of the Vietnam war. Harris said both those who want a total victory and those who want to withdraw say they will vote for any Republican nominee against Johnson.

The Gallup Poll reports its latest nationwide survey indicates 30 per cent of those responding had more faith in the Republicans than the Democrats to deal with the war, 26 per cent said the Democrats are best able to handle the problem, 28 per cent felt there was no difference and 16 per cent had no opinion.

Former Gov. Wallace's campaign headquarters in Montgomery, Ala., said he will return to California for a two or three-week foray beginning Monday in his drive to gain a position on that state's 1968 presidential ballot. Wallace is still undeclared as a presidential candidate but has been touring the country extensively. He was in Ohio Monday and heads for South Carolina this weekend.

Voters in San Mateo County, Calif., are balloting today to choose a new congressman to replace the late Rep. J. Arthur Younger, R. Mrs. Black, who as a child movie star was known to the world as Shirley Temple, is one of four Republicans seeking the post, along with six Democrats.

In Milwaukee, Wis., former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who tried unsuccessfully to defeat Barry Goldwater for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964, says most Republicans would rather have a winner in '68 than "make an ideological point either way."

Scranton became the symbol of GOP moderation in his fight against the conservative Goldwater at the '64 convention.

The potential presidential candidacy of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota could cause some intraparty problems, Democratic campaign strategists acknowledged in Washington interviews.

They said they foresee major trouble in Wisconsin, where Democratic Sen. Gaylord Nelson faces a possibly tough reelection fight. Nelson hasn't said what position he would take if a McCarthy-Johnson primary fight develops in his state.

The itch for getting into political was seemed to be getting at former President Dwight D. Eisenhower while attending a dinner in St. Louis for Rep. Thomas Curtis, R-Mo.

"I almost feel like I'd like to be running again," Eisenhower said. "I don't know what I would run for, maybe vice president." Although the old soldier was obviously kidding, the crowd of 800 cheered.

Clergyman Defended By Bishop

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—An Episcopal bishop has come to the defense of a clergyman whose criticism of President Johnson over Vietnam triggered a storm of protest.

The minister said the President had not provided a full explanation of this country's role in Vietnam.

The Rt. Rev. George P. Gunn, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, said the Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis was within his rights as a Christian and minister to express his convictions.

Dr. Lewis made his remarks about Vietnam from the pulpit of historic Bruton Parish Church here Sunday while President Johnson and his family sat in the congregation.

Released by Enemy

Sergeants Given 'Welcome Home'

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Fellow Special Forces soldiers shouted "Welcome home" and embraced S. Sgt. James E. Jackson Monday night as he and two other U.S. Army sergeants returned to the United States after years of captivity by the Viet Cong.

The cheer for Jackson came from a trio of his comrades as he stepped off a military plane that returned him and M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C., to Ft. Bragg.

Pitzer walked unsteadily and laid down on an ambulance stretcher. An Army official said he had a serious vitamin deficiency.

The third prisoner of war released in Cambodia Saturday M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif., was removed from the plane in a stretcher at Washington, D.C., and taken to Walter Reed Army Hospital. He was reported suffering from dysentery and malnutrition.

The three sergeants were accompanied as far as New York by Thomas Hayden, a Newark, N.J., writer who brought them

Republicans Disagree On Toll Roads

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Ten Republican House members sought to intervene Monday in a court test of Missouri's new toll road law.

They said it was illegal and unconstitutional to set up the toll road authority and let it use state highway funds in furthering the program.

Meanwhile Robert L. Hyder, chief counsel for the Toll Road Authority and for the State Highway Commission, said he would ask the Missouri Supreme Court to take jurisdiction of the test suit Friday for a speedier determination of the action.

Those who filed a petition to intervene were: Reps. Stephen Burns of Kirkwood, Herbert S. Akers of Bridgeton, Les Lankford of Springfield, John Russell of Lebanon, Donald Gann of Ozark, Ralph Melton of Dadeville, Edward Groves of Springfield, Charles E. Valier of St. Louis, J.H. Frappier of Florissant and Edward Ottinger of St. Louis.

out of Cambodia. Hayden is a member of an American peace committee that also includes Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Dr. Benjamin Spock and singer Joan Baez.

King said the release was a gesture of goodwill toward American Negroes. Jackson and Johnson are Negroes.

"We appealed to the humanitarian instincts of the North Vietnamese," King said, adding that the committee hopes to aid in the release of additional U.S. prisoners.

Jackson smiled broadly, as three fellow Green Berets embraced him and slapped him on the back on his arrival at Ft. Bragg. Jackson, Pitzer and Johnson all received their Special Forces training at Bragg.

Jackson accepted a cigarette but declined to answer questions about his captivity.

"It's been a long trip and I'm glad to be home," Jackson said. "The treatment on the trip has been A-No. 1."

Jackson's mother said her son "had the training (as a Green Beret) to fake a brainwashing job just to win his release." His father, a bus driver and mechanic expressed confidence that his son would receive "all the care he needs" in U.S. military hospitals. Jackson's parents live in Talcott, W. Va.

At Ft. Bragg, Jackson's jubilant manner contrasted sharply with Pitzer, who walked down the plane's ramp with a halting step, looking drawn and pale. He spoke to no one and stretched out on a bed in the ambulance for the short trip to Womack Army Hospital on the Ft. Bragg post. His wife was waiting there but newsmen were barred from observing their reunion.

Earlier in the evening when Pitzer disembarked from a Pan American flight to Kennedy Airport in New York City, he had said: "I'm very glad to be at home. I'm looking forward to seeing my family."

The three sergeants had been kept under wraps in Cambodia after the news conference announcing their release Saturday. They arrived in Beirut aboard a Czechoslovak airliner Sunday and then flown to Rome and Paris before landing in New York.

Army officials said Jackson would see members of his family at Ft. Bragg. He has a wife and two children.

Jackson, captured on July 5, 1967, had spent less time in the Viet Cong's hands than the others. Pitzer was captured in October, 1963, and Johnson had been a prisoner since 1964.

At Impasse In Mid-East Settlement

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Unyielding positions taken by Israel and Jordan before the U.N. Security Council Monday have further dimmed hopes of any Middle East settlement soon.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban made plain that his government is in no hurry to come to terms when he brushed aside two rival resolutions both designed to bring the Arabs nearer than ever before to compromise.

Eban reiterated his rejection of a resolution submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria because he said it suggested "that Israel should move from the cease-fire lines without a peace treaty defining permanent and secure frontiers."

He said the U.S. resolution failed to "give sufficient weight to the concept of negotiation and agreement." The Israelis are believed willing to accept the U.S. plan in effect, but want it made plain that any solution must stem from direct talks between them and the Arabs.

A similar inflexibility was shown by Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifa'i, despite the softer tone of King Hussein's public statements in the United States last week.

Rifa'i stressed Arab demands for Israeli withdrawal from territory seized in the June war. If the United Nations fails to act, he warned, "we will have to return to our people" and advise them to take action needed "to liquidate this Israeli aggression."

Rifa'i charged that the real source of instability in the Middle East is what he called Israel's "record of expansionist policies and repeated organized attacks against Arab countries."

Israeli circles feel that Hussein played up the conciliatory theme too much last week for Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's liking.

Marine General Killed In 'Copter Explosion

Division Commander On Inspection Trip

SAIGON (AP)—The United States lost its first general in the Vietnam war today. Maj. Gen. Bruno A. Hochmuth, 56, commander of the 3rd Marine Division, was killed in a helicopter explosion and crash north of Hue.

The U.S. Command also announced that Communist gunners shot down two American helicopters and damaged five more Monday in fighting along the coastal lowlands 365 miles northeast of Saigon. But it was not known whether Hochmuth's death was due to enemy action.

The general, a lantern-jawed Texan who took command of the 3rd Division last March, was on an inspection trip. The pilot of another helicopter accompanying him said the general's craft was flying at about 1,000 feet when it appeared to explode in the air, broke in two and crashed on its back in a lake.

There were no survivors. Two American pilots, the American crew chief and a Vietnamese interpreter also died in the crash.

U.S. military headquarters in Saigon said it was not believed there was any enemy fire in the area at the time, but officers at Marine headquarters in Da Nang said they did not rule out that possibility.

The flareup of fighting along the coastal lowlands coincided with a lull around Dak To, in the central highlands, after two weeks of hard battling there. Only occasional sniper and mortar fire were reported this morning after a fierce battle late Monday in which 10 paratroopers of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade were reported killed and another 33 wounded.

Eight-engine B52 bombers pounded suspected Red positions 16 miles southwest of Dak To, dropping 150,000 pounds of bombs on a suspected base camp and staging area.

The U.S. helicopters came under heavy machine-gun and small arms fire Monday while lifting 450 men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division into a battle area 15 miles west of the provincial capital of Tam Ky. The U.S. Command said fighting tapered off after six hours with four Americans killed and 19 wounded. Communist casualties were not known.

Less than 25 miles to the south in the coastal lowlands U.S. paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division reported killing 20 Communist troops in a series of scattered clashes while suffering no casualties. The U.S. Army said 10 of the enemy dead were North Vietnamese Army regulars wearing new green uniforms, indicating they might have recently come south.

No major ground fighting was reported elsewhere.

The northeast monsoon weather once again cut heavily into U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam limiting U.S. planes to targets in the southern half of SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The leftist-dominated national council of President Eduardo Frei's Christian Democratic Party endorsed a modified forced savings proposal today and apparently headed off a mass cabinet resignation.

Interior Minister Bernardo Leighton and nine other cabinet ministers had threatened to quit if the plan did not get the party's backing.

The council's modification of the plan proposed by Frei seemed to be an attempt to pacify leftists who claimed the program hit workers too hard and higher income groups and foreign firms not enough.

Leighton called the outcome of the six-hour council meeting "positive."

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—At least 200 Biafrans were killed in a futile attempt to retake Enugu, their capital, from federal forces, Nigerian army sources say.

The rebels in East Nigeria opened up on the occupying federal troops with mortars and artillery over the weekend but could not oust the federal soldiers who captured Enugu Oct. 4.

Biafra Radio said Monday that 12 civilians were killed and 20 others wounded in three days of bombing and strafing by federal jets. The Nigerian government admits planes are operating in the area but did not confirm the bombing and strafing account.

TOKYO (AP)—The Peking People's Daily says that President Liu Shao-chi in 1962 proposed formation of a vigorous group within the Communist party to oppose Chairman Mao Tse-tung openly.

The paper said that Liu—identified as usual only as "China's Khrushchev"—advanced this precedent-shattering idea at an enlarged working conference of the party's Central Committee.

"Opposing Chairman Mao is only to oppose one individual," Liu was quoted as telling party leaders. "We should have an opposition both among the people and within the party. It should be an open opposition."

Moscow Radio reported in October that Liu was under house arrest, but Peking's official propaganda outlets have given no indication of this.

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP)—Zambia will stop all air traffic with Rhodesia, its white-ruled, rebel neighbor, on Jan. 1, 1968, a transportation ministry spokesman said today. And no new deal will be made with Rhodesia "because there is no legal government there," he added.

Why I Will Vote YES

Carl W. Yates, Jr., president of Yates Broadcasting Co., and the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, gives his views on the Rival Manufacturing Co. bonds, to be voted on Nov. 21:

Trade, commerce, and the jobs that go with this economic activity are the lifeblood of our community; the foundation upon which the many aspects of our life and life's work are based.

Here at Sedalia, we need to take every logical step to expand our industrial base which supports the other economic endeavors. That is, retail and wholesale trade and services.

The State Legislature a few years ago provided a new tool for communities to use: industrial development bonds. Sedalia voters will have the opportunity next Tuesday to demonstrate that they want an expanded local industrial base when they vote on the industrial bond proposal.

There are no gimmicks involved. The proposal is above board and was closely reviewed by the state before the election could be called. Sedalia is growing industrially and can continue. The welfare of individual Sedalians is tied to economic growth; thus, we have a chance to benefit ourselves. I urge every Sedalia voter to say "YES" Tuesday.

Not Treason

'Dove' Says Johnson Hitting Below Belt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken says President Johnson and administration officials imply Vietnam war policy criticism borders on treason. The Vermont Republican calls it "hitting below the belt."

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, took issue with a Monday statement by Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to South Vietnam, that domestic dissent acts to "encourage the North Vietnamese to hold on."

A sharp critic of Johnson's escalation of the U.S. war effort, Aiken said in an interview he detects a pattern in weekend speeches by the President, a New York talk Monday by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and in Bunker's remarks, a pattern of blaming critics for what he called lack of success in Southeast Asia.

"Congress has given the President everything he has asked for to carry on the war in Vietnam," Aiken said. "If the results have not been successful, it would appear to be the judgment of the administration that is at fault."

"To imply that those who question the judgment of the President may not be wholly loyal to their country would seem to me to be hitting below the belt."

Humphrey said the greatest need at this point in the war is "support by the American people" which "can give a clear, unmistakable signal to our adversary and thereby shorten the war."

"I can tell him (Johnson) how to get unity," Aiken said. "Just let somebody drop bombs on Silver Spring, Md., and Falls Church, Va., and he will get unity. The American people then would feel just about as I imagine the people of Hanoi and Haiphong feel."

That viewpoint also was expressed by journalist David Schoenbrun, who said his recent visit to North Vietnam convinced him U.S. bombing of the North never will lead to peace talks.

Drop the Hard Line

Hanoi Courts U.S. Anti-War Wing With a New Propaganda Approach

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Vietnamese Communist gestures with regard to their American captives illustrate a shift in propaganda emphasis over the past 16 months and suggest that both Hanoi and the Viet Cong are investing hopes in the anti-war movement in the United States.

In July 1966, after more than a year of air attacks on North Vietnam and heavy use of American air power in the South, Hanoi and Viet Cong propaganda threatened vengeance against captured U.S. crews, even hinting broadly at public war crimes trials.

Now the stress is on humane treatment. The Viet Cong, for example, has just released three prisoners who, according to Communist sources in Cambodia, will represent the beginning of a "trickle" if the Communists are satisfied with news stories about the three

The Communists have had little success so far from attempts to make propaganda capital of statements attributed to captive U.S. airmen. The statements attributed to them have been, for the most part, read by others in the prisoners' names, in English-language broadcasts. This leaves the authenticity of the statements open to question.

Sixteen months ago the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong insisted that all captured airmen, as Hanoi put it, "are not prisoners of war and cannot enjoy the provisions of the Geneva Convention of 1949 on the treatment of prisoners of war." This hinted that captives might be publicly tried and executed.

Citing the trials of Nazi leaders at Nuernberg, Germany, Hanoi said captive Americans could "by no means claim to be free from responsibility as far as criminal law is concerned; neither can they claim to be mere instruments who act only as ordered out of respect for military discipline."

"They are in fact war criminals," said Hanoi. "They are not prisoners of war. The American pilots are but pirates, saboteurs and criminals. That is why they may be tried for crimes against the security of this country."

At about the same time, Hanoi broadcast a proposal to the Viet Cong in the South that it "set up a court to try and appropriately punish those American pilots who owe blood debts to our people."

For about a week in that period Hanoi broadcast alleged depositions of U.S. prisoners condemning the U.S. government and "begging forgiveness." The statements sounded as if produced by the same hand. Hanoi reported captives were paraded through the streets amid demonstrations against them.

The "war crimes trial" line was dropped rather abruptly in the summer of 1966 and not used again. For months thereafter the Communists occasionally broadcast names and ranks of captive Americans and, at times, statements attributed to the prisoners. Seldom in recent months have these statements gone beyond expressing surprise at the effectiveness of Communist defenses or matter-of-fact accounts of how the prisoner was captured.

The release of selected American prisoners instead of threats of reprisals against captives in general could mean the Communists think they might catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar.

The tactic could be aimed at giving certain antiwar elements in the United States a sense of accomplishment, and thus hold the promise of building additional pressure against the Johnson administration's war policy.

The World Today

LBj At Bottom Of Poll

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In public opinion President Johnson, according to the polls, is near the bottom of the barrel. There is no place for him to go now but up.

To go up he'll have to start fighting, for a change. Much of his time in the White House has been like living in a monastery. He has done so little talking to the people about national problems.

But as a politician, and with the 1968 elections coming up, it can be taken for granted he will try to fight to restore himself in the public mind. How he fights will be one of the most fascinating sights between now and the elections.

It has become a cliché to say his popularity, including both public liking and confidence, would leap up if the Vietnam war suddenly ended. But that would be depending on a miracle, if he waited for that.

He will probably have to plug along without that kind of help.

Yet public opinion about the President—as expressed in polls—has been neither very perceptive nor brilliant. One example is what happened after his two meetings in June with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in Glassboro, N.J.

The Louis Harris poll, published within two weeks after those meetings, showed Johnson's popularity had shot up to 54 per cent, an 11 per cent jump over a couple of months before.

It must have been the glamor, or hope, that made the difference, not the facts, for so far as the public knew the two meetings accomplished absolutely nothing.

Time passed, the memory of Glassboro dimmed, the Vietnam war dragged on, as it had been doing before Glassboro, and both the Harris and Gallup polls show now Johnson's standing with the people is at an all-time low. Yet, between Glassboro and now nothing has changed.

Since the biggest monkey on Johnson's back is, and has been almost from the beginning of his presidency, the Vietnam war, it would seem he would use every device to lighten the load.

One handy device would have been repeated talks to the nation on the war, with explanations. Years from now biographers and historians will have a field day trying to explain Johnson's growing reluctance to make nationwide talks.

This is particularly strange since, in private, he talks incessantly and with force. He realizes he is not at his best making speeches, this writer has been told.

Among the presidents he is the poorest speechmaker since Calvin Coolidge.

Again and again his speeches are full of corn and platitudes. Whether this is his doing is not clear. What he seems to need badly are better speechwriters. Even President Harry S. Tru-

A Church Dinner

The East Sedalia Baptist Church will host 250 or more members of the church and Sunday school with a fellowship dinner Nov. 15 at 7 p.m. at the Agriculture Building, State Fairgrounds.

There will be no charge, offering or solicitation at the meeting. The Rev. Medford Speaker, pastor will speak. Mrs. Stanley Fisher, guest organist, will furnish dinner music.

This fellowship dinner is the highlight of a 10-week stewardship campaign which will be climaxed Nov. 19, with a Dedication Day, when the church will underwrite the annual church budget of $77,467 by personal commitment.

The Rev. Walter P. Arnold, former pastor of the church, is general chairman of the campaign.

man, with less education than Johnson, was better at public speaking. There were no decorations, no literary flourishes, or attempts at them. Truman was terse, tough and to the point.

The last time Johnson made a full-length talk on Vietnam was Sept. 29. It's hard to remember when he did the same before. Instead, he has a habit of throwing in bits and pieces on Vietnam in a speech.

But those bits and pieces, in a talk that roams over other subjects, too, get lost to view and memory. Recently Johnson has been depending on aides—like Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk—to answer the critics on Vietnam. The result: the criticism increases.

That there is a broad desire for explanations from Johnson was illustrated last Sunday when a minister, who should have taken the trouble to be better informed on some details, undertook to criticize Johnson for not talking more. Johnson sat in a pew listening to him.

Johnson is at his best out of public sight, dealing with people. But the public can't see that and—judging from how quickly the public has forgotten his tremendous achievements with legislation in 1965—wouldn't even remember.

His concentration on the war seems to have gotten in the way of working on Congress. That has a price tag on it: When Congress finally finishes up this year its record will be unimpressive.

In short, to resurrect himself in public esteem Johnson will have to perform on his own, in full sight of the public whose approval means so much to his ego and his political future.

Watching him do it, or try to, is what will be fascinating.

Passenger Trains May Be Dropped

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two daily passenger trains between Kansas City and Chicago are being discontinued by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Dec. 10.

Increasing expenses are the causes of dropping trains 35 and 36, the company said.

The Burlington will continue to give overnight service between Kansas City and Chicago with its American Royal Zephyr, trains 55 and 56, by way of Quincy, Ill. They serve virtually the same communities now served by trains 35 and 36.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three famed trains, including the Kansas City Chief and the Kansas Cityan, will be discontinued if the Interstate Commerce Commission grants the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad its request.

The third train the Santa Fe wants discontinued is the Chicagoan.

The Santa Fe said estimated annual losses next year for the three trains are expected to reach $1.3 million. The railroad said the loss was because the post office is removing mail from these trains.

The trains will be discontinued Dec. 10 if Santa Fe's request is granted, but the railroad said critics served by the trains will continue to have rail passenger service on the Texas Chief.

The Kansas City Chief operates from Chicago to Kansas City. The Kansas Cityan operates between Kansas City and Dallas. The Chicagoan runs from Dallas to Chicago.

How White Traders Rob the Red Man

(Last of a Series.)

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

TOHATCHI, Ariz. — (NEA) — There are over 100 white traders federally licensed to sell groceries and goods inside the Navajo Indian Reservation.

A few of them are sadistic. Some of them are dishonest. Many of them are thoroughly despised.

They are, in general, a ruthless, money-grabbing lot who have for years overcharged and underserved their patch-pocketed clientele. The list of their misdeeds is a tragic affront to fundamental decency.

Some examples:

An Indian boy who ran up a $4 bill at one trading post here was confronted for immediate payment. When he said he didn't have the money he was beaten, knocked down, kicked and left bleeding in the dirt.

A man who lost his job asked a trader if he could stall a payment on his truck until he found other employment. The trader hit him with a chain, resold the truck and sued the Navajo for the former balance due.

A fast-talking book salesman sold a set of used encyclopedias to an illiterate Navajo woman whose oldest child was six. The books were appraised for $50. The woman signed a contract for $150.

There are worse cases, some unprintable.

It has been going on for a century at this reservation and it is going on right now. Families who make $100 a month are buying eggs for 95 cents a dozen, gas for 50 cents a gallon, and hamburger for 79 cents a pound.

Indians object, naturally, but protests are useless. In most cases Navajos are totally dependent on white traders for their very existence.

In the remote regions here, trading posts are monopolized community centers. The trader is the only merchant, the only postmaster, the only buyer of cattle and handicrafts and the only pawnbroker.

He gives credit on welfare and Social Security checks. When the checks arrive each month in his post office, he lets the recipients touch them only long enough to endorse.

Then they all go into the trader's till.

When a check doesn't cover a bill, a Navajo trades in jewelry, rugs or wool and receives, on the average, 20 to 40 per cent less than value.

If the Indian complains, he is banished from the store.

Such banishments, moreover, hardly worry the trader. One Indian more or less makes little difference to most of them. Some of the merchants on the reservation ring up $500,000 worth of receipts annually.

"As usual," say the Navajos, "only the Indian suffers."

On the surface of it, actually, the suffering seems unnecessary. The land, after all, is Indian land and therefore it should be simple enough to outlaw white traders and then set up all Navajo grocery posts.

But it isn't that simple. Not nearly.

Explains tribal official Leona Cole: "One trouble is that most Navajos aren't capable of handling their own businesses. We've had a number of them try to set up shops, but few have succeeded."

"I suppose in part it's because the Navajo philosophy is basically noncompetitive. They are slow and easy-going. They are not scramblers. So, unfortunately, their record in the business world hasn't been good."

Indeed not. In 100 years of trying, the Navajos haven't developed enough locally owned establishments to fill up a small shopping center.

And it's not because the stores aren't needed. The reservation is 25,000 square miles in area and critically wanting for 100 more gas stations, 60 more restaurants, 40 more markets and 90 more laundries.

"But it takes money and it takes initiative," says Miss Cole. And she admits sadly that most Navajos are lacking in both resources.

Part of the fault for this, certainly, can be traced to U. S. miscalculations. The Washington policy of paternalism has long stifled normal Navajo drive and replaced it with torpidity.

Government schooling has been especially guilty. They teach the sights and sounds of modern living, but fail miserably to equip Indian youngsters to assume an active part in the 20th century.

Government handouts have also contributed, indirectly, to the enduring situation. Since 1868 federal money has been used primarily to keep Indians alive rather than make them self-sufficient and independent.

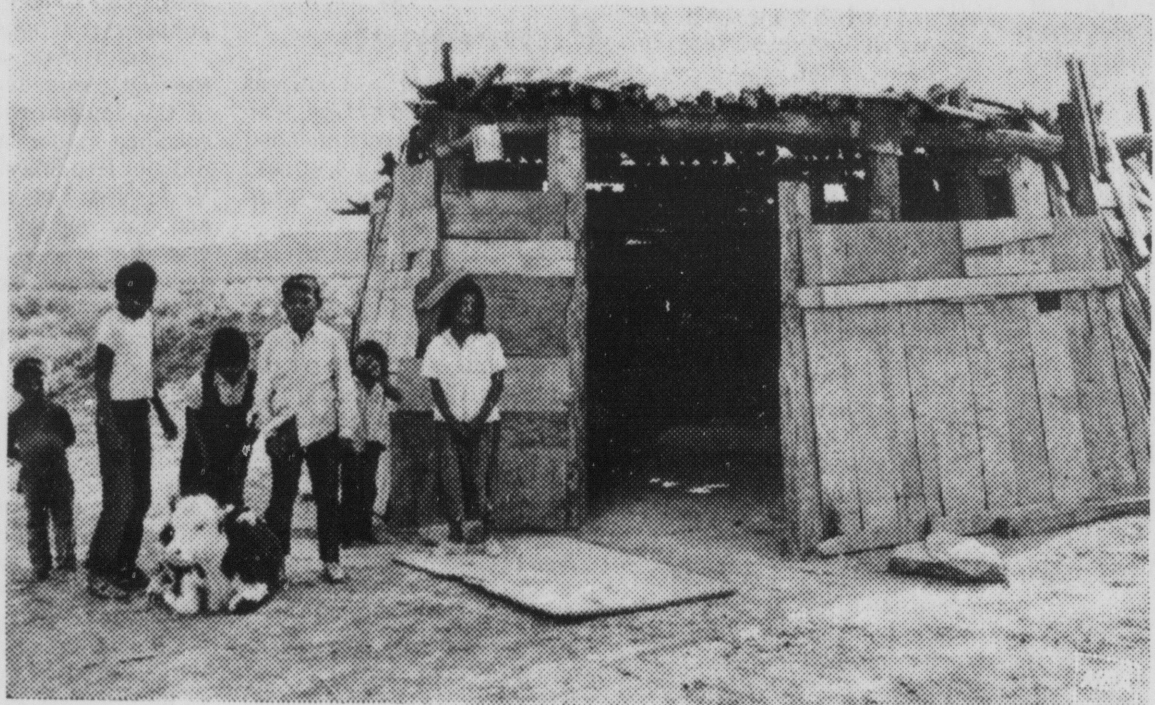

Thus it is for the Navajo.

He was confused and defeated by free enterprise 100 years ago and in a very real sense he is still confused and defeated by free enterprise today.

His lot remains impossible. "All we've done in the past century," says one Navajo sadly, "is create an unfortunate hybrid. An Indian who is educated enough to know he's in bad shape, but not educated enough to do much about it."

One Stowaway On Ship's Last Trip

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Queen Mary, on her final voyage, had at least one stowaway.

Ship officials said Stacey Darrel Miller, 21, boarded the ocean liner in Lisbon, Portugal, last Friday, and was discovered Thursday. The former Joliet, Ill., railroad switchman hid under a grating and slept at least once in an empty cabin before being discovered by Alfred Ernest Durston, chief master at arms.

Miller left Lockport, Ill., in late September for a tour of Europe and Africa.

The Queen Mary arrives Dec. 9 at Long Beach where she will be retired and used as a floating museum, restaurant and tourist attraction.

New Name

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — Canada should leave the dollar to the United States and adopt some other name for its dollar because the two are not on a par in value or buying power, says R. A. Engholm, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. On a tour, he told an interviewer here the Canadian worker produces about two-thirds of what an American produces for the same unit of capital but the Canadian wants pay on the American scale.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases, to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain. In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form

Society AND Clubs

The Helen G. Steele Music Club on Nov. 8, was entertained at Heard Memorial Club House with an exchange program with the Morning Music Club of Jefferson City. Scheduled originally was a program to be given by Mrs. Shirley Johnston, lyric soprano, but because of a death in her family she was unable to come to Sedalia. Several women from the Jefferson City Club, however, on short notice put together a musical treat of a thoroughly enjoyable nature.

The program was opened with a solo, "Til There Was You" by Mrs. A. C. Harder, accompanied by Mrs. James Trenkle. This was followed by "The Grasshopper," the tragic tale of the sad death of a grasshopper who made the mistake of sitting on a sweet potato vine from which he was plucked by a sly turkey gobbler, who gobbled him up.

A chorus of nine women sang the tale in the usual fashion after the accompanist gave them the theme with a one finger piano demonstration. They sang the tale in a minor key as the family grieved, and a female grasshopper, who had been engaged to the deceased sang in German as the chorus wept into red handkerchief. The Rev. Bumblebee delivered the sermon on the shortness of life and the folly of sitting on a sweet potato vine, his sermon punctuated by "Amen's" from the chorus. An adagio, sounding suspiciously like "Auld Lang Syne," was sung in nasal sadness and followed by further narration of the tale in allegretto with heathen hilarity to the tune of "Ginny Crack Corn."

The chorus was composed of Mrs. Robert Herman, Mrs. Donald Moreau, Mrs. Gus Schwartz, Mrs. J. E. Summers, Jr., Mrs. J. E. Schaffner, Mrs. A. C. Harder, Mrs. Ray Lakmeyer, Mrs. Mrs. F. N. Sanders, Mrs. John K. LOS. The accompanist was Mrs. James Trenkle.

For an encore they sang "The Worm."

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. George Routsong, who introduced Mrs. Dean Wilson, executive vice-president of the Missouri Federation of Music Clubs and past president of the Jefferson City Club. Mrs. Paul Smelser, president of the Morning Music Club of Jefferson City, was also introduced. Both women gave short talks expressing appreciation to Helen G. Steele Music Club for their hospitality and for making the early fall convention of the National Board of Federated Music Clubs such a success. Mrs. Smelser also introduced the program.

Local guests were Mrs. Aaron Haller and Mrs. John Knaus.

Mrs. Robert Seelen announced that the next meeting will be on Nov. 22, the day before Thanksgiving with the theme "Give Thanks to God."

Mrs. Routsong thanked the women from Jefferson City for bringing the program.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Epworth Methodist Church met Thursday, Nov. 2. Mrs. Emil Pflughoeft, president, presided and Edwin Danforth, organist, played a solo, "Beside Still Waters."

The Martha Circle presented the program, "The American Indian" with Mrs. Sterling Wheeler, Mrs. Leon White, Mrs. Phillip Bowline, Mrs. Mayne Shelby, and Mrs. K. C. Link participating.

The "Call to Prayer and Self-Denial" service was given by Mrs. Leon White, entitled "Feed My Sheep," and scripture was read by Mrs. Alice Frownfelter and Mrs. Delpha Hartman. Various recipient homes were told of by Mrs. Roy Doll, Mrs. Verna Hatfield, and Mrs. Ruth Jackson.

Hostesses for the contributive luncheon, held at noon, were Mrs. Walter Jessee, Mrs. Robert Neumann, and Mrs. L. C. Fullerton.

OBITUARIES

William Mowell (Warsaw)

William Henry Mowell, 87, Benton County, died Sunday evening at the Wetzel Hospital, Clinton, where he had been taken Saturday following a stroke.

He was born March 12, 1880, in Warsaw, son of George W. and Elizabeth Smith Mowell. On Dec. 24, 1908, at Frisco, he was married to Iva Maud Turner, who preceded him in death Jan. 4, 1954. They had three sons and one daughter, and his entire life was spent on the same farm near Warsaw.

A charter member of the Ridgewood M.F.A., the first Missouri Farm Association formed in the state, he also served on the school board in his district for 30 years.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Una Johnson, Warsaw; three sons, Norris and Orval, Odessa; Lawrence, Kansas City; two sisters, Mrs. Ema Hoosier and Mrs. Mae Rice, both of Glendale, Calif.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the New Home Baptist Church, where he was a member. The Rev. Wayne Williams will officiate.

Burial will be in the church cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the Reser Funeral Home, Warsaw, Tuesday evening between 7 and 9 p.m.

Mrs. E.M. Nichols (Tulsa, Okla.)

Mrs. E. M. Nichols, 87, Tulsa, Okla., died there Nov. 10, according to word received by relatives here.

Born in Saline County on Feb. 22, 1880, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Alexander. She was the last of a family of six children.

Survivors in this area include Mrs. D. C. Schlomer and Mrs. Ethel King, both of Marshall; Mrs. Maude Butterwick, Hughesville; a nephew, John Alexander, Sweet Springs; and other nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Moore Memory Chapel, Tulsa, with burial at Denton, Texas.

Wheat probably was one of the first cereal crops grown by man, but its precise origin remains a mystery.

Six Escapees From Algoa At Large

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Six escapees from Algoa Intermediate Reformatory near Jefferson City are still at large, the Highway Patrol reported today.

They were identified as Robert Allen Horback, 18, serving a term for stealing in Pulaski county; Danny Richmond, bad checks, Butler County; Robert Wilson, 17, burglary, Crawford County; Ronnie Hines, 18, escape, Stoddard County; Melvin Eugene Skaggs, 17, burglary, Phelps County, and Daniel Yeakey, 16, Columbia, burglary and stealing in Cooper County.

They escaped about 9 p. m. Monday.

Warden Harold R. Swenson of the State Penitentiary said 14 prison guards equipped with radios had joined the patrol in the search.

Police Officials To Attend Forum

Sedalia Police Chief William Miller, Assistant Chief Charles Knapp, and traffic Clerk Clarence Harrell, will attend a traffic forum Wednesday in Jefferson City sponsored by the American Automobile Association (AAA), the Missouri Municipal League, and the Missouri Police Chiefs Association.

Topics to be discussed at the meeting will include ways to implement the federal highway standards and the Missouri highway safety program.

Five Missourians Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five Missourians have been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Monday.

Army personnel were identified as Cpl. Martin H. Zundga, son of Mrs. Ruth Klobe of St. Louis; 2nd Lt. Charles W. Grizzle, husband of Mrs. Carol L. Grizzle, Florissant; Spec. 4 Billy J. Barnett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Billie J. Barnett Sr., Overland; and Spec. 4 William J. Michael, husband of Mrs. Marva A. Michael, Oak Grove.

Also killed in action was Marine Sgt. Roy A. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gibson, Amazonia.

Changed from missing to dead from hostile causes was Cpl. Jerry L. Wiggins, husband of Mrs. Betty A. Wiggins, Carrollton.

"The number of secondary fires was fantastic," said Capt. Gerald B. Johnston, 29, of Florence, Ore. "I don't know what was in that storage area, but when we pulled off seven of the fires were really getting large and we could see them from 20 or 30 miles away."

Navy fliers from the carrier Intrepid said they damaged a boat yard 31 miles northeast of Vinh and a radar tower 40 miles south of Thanh Hao. Other Navy pilots said they destroyed or damaged 22 junks and barges along North Vietnam's coast.

Accidents

No apparent injuries resulted from a two car accident at 10:28 a.m. Tuesday in the alley in the 200 block of West Second.

Involved were cars driven by Robert Hieronymus, Raytown, and Morris Whittall, 121 South Osage.

According to the police the accident occurred when Whittall's car rolled forward in the city parking lot and hit Hieronymus' car which was going west in the alley.

Damages were to the left side of Hieronymus' car and to the right front corner of Whittall's car.

Hold Meeting

The Quisenberry Hustlers 4-H Club met November 6 at Camp Branch school. The meeting was called to order by President Mike Close and the pledges were repeated.

The program, which was a style show using hats with danger hazards portrayed on them and an appropriate skit telling what measures could be taken to avoid the hazards, followed.

New members were introduced, after which the group was divided into new committees for the coming year. These committees then discussed plans for the future.

The club decided to construct a Christmas float for the parade this year, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Explains Arm Of Rotary

The Rotary Foundation was explained by Jess Brown, Gaylan Cope and Jack Cunningham to members of the Sedalia Rotary Club on Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

The foundation awards graduate fellowships for study in any field in any of the more than 130 countries in which there are Rotary Clubs. The local club has contributed $40 per member over the last 20 years in support of the foundation.

The program was introduced by Bob Lantis, November program chairman.

Charles Spradling, University of Missouri youth agent for Pettis County, was a guest of J. A. Harlan, Keith Yount, Jr., and Terry Arnold were student guests. Wayne Stackhouse made the introductions.

Jake Summers, president, presided over the meeting.

Honor For Employees

Six employees of Cities Service Gas Company's Knob Noster compressor station and gas measurement department were honored with a dinner Tuesday evening, Oct. 31, Sedalia. The dinner was given by the company for maintaining outstanding safety records.

The employees at Knob Noster received an award for working two years without a disabling injury, while the company's gas measurement department has worked 100,000 man hours without a lost-time accident.

Ray Richardson, superintendent of the compressor station, accepted the plaque from Ira Meador, chairman of the safety committee and assistant superintendent of the company's pressure department, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Others attending the dinner from Oklahoma City headquarters were E.S. Hanson, general manager of the transmission division, and former superintendent of the Knob Noster station; James L. Dancer, superintendent of compressor department; Carl J. Coulter, superintendent of gas measurement department; and Hale Barfoot, manager of employee services.

Kenneth W. Roberts, a gas measurement employee, Knob Noster, was recognized for his department's record.

Knob Noster station employees include W. F. Peery, J. W. Sutherland, G. N. Dillon and E. C. McKellips.

Cuban Refugees

'Little Havana' Grows In Middle of Miami

By BOB M. GASSAWAY Associated Press Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It's not on any map and there's no sign beside the street listing the population, but when you get there, you know you're in Little Havana.

You'll hear the rapid-fire brand of Spanish spoken in Cuba, see bakeries called panaderias, smell the aroma of Cuban coffee, and gaze at dark-haired senioritas in tight stretch-pants.

An estimated 75,000 Cuban refugees have settled into a 2,000-square block section in the heart of Miami and stamped it their own.

Little Havana keeps growing as refugees stream to Miami by boats and airlift. Two plane-loads of them arrive each week-day from Cuba. They scatter to all parts of the United States, but many choose to start life among the kindred surroundings of Little Havana. Alejandro Sanchez says he likes it here because "Miami has a savory climate, much like Cuba's."

Florida has long attracted a steady trickle of Cubans, but when Fidel Castro assumed power Jan. 1, 1959, the stream gushed to flood proportions. The exiles have woven their own way of life that is a blend of the old and new.

A drive along Southwest 8th Street—which the exiles call "Cuban downtown"—provides the evidence.

Atop the familiar candy-striped barber's pole a plaque reads "barbero," the word under Rx is "farmacia," letters on the window guarding trays of jewelry spell out "joyeria," and the signs advertise "sandwich Cubano" instead of hamburgers. The majority of Miami's Cubans speak at least some

A NEW LOOK in men's evening wear this season is the white satin turtleneck shirt, according to Gentlemen's Quarterly Magazine. The menswear bible cites Senators Robert and Edward Kennedy and Britain's Lord Snowden as among the style-setters in the no-tie trend.

Bobby Says U.S. Missed Its Chance

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy charges a negotiated peace in Vietnam may be impossible for some time to come because the United States passed up a chance to go to the bargaining table last winter.

Nonetheless, said the New York Democrat, "I continue to believe that we should go to negotiations in an effort to reach a peaceful and honorable settlement. Perhaps we cannot, but we shall never know until we try."

Kennedy asserted that a "false scent of victory" during the winter of 1966-67 led the administration to "cast away what may well have been the last best chance to go to the negotiating table."

Replying to the charge, White House Press Secretary George Christian said Monday: "We have not passed up any opportunities—there haven't been any opportunities really."

Kennedy made his remarks in an article in the current issue of Look magazine. It was taken from his forthcoming book, "To Seek a New World," to be published by Doubleday & Co., Inc.

"Despite the killing and destruction, we are in no better position now than we were a year ago—and we will not be in any better position a year from now," said Kennedy.

Dangerous Job

DENVER (AP) — A process server, Calvin Smith, went to a stockyards auction to serve a complaint and became an unwilling bidder for an Angus calf.

When Smith pointed his finger at the man he wanted to hand the subpoena, the auctioneer called, "I'm bid $400." But Smith didn't have to buy the calf—someone else bid $500.

Raul Menocal, a two-term mayor of Havana and onetime Cuban minister of commerce, is vice president of a local bank.

He says, "In the back of our minds is always the idea to go back, but to a free Cuba. To go back is not the idea, but to free our country."

Menocal, however, estimates that 80 per cent of the refugees will remain in the United States even if Castro is overthrown.

The refugees like the shiny new cars, the color television sets, the homes, air conditioners and all the other things their American jobs can provide. They like the climate and they are among their own kind.

But Little Havana will never be like the real thing 220 miles to the south.

Urge State Training Of Policemen

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A citizens committee created by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes recommended today that Missouri set up and support a statewide police training program.

Isaac Gurman, head of the Law Enforcement Standards and Training Planning Committee, made the recommendation at a hearing conducted by the governor's Citizens Committee on Delinquency and Crime.

Gurman proposed Hearnes include the police program on his call for the Jan. 12 special session of the legislature.

The proposed program would provide basic training for all police officers and supervisory training to officers elevated to positions of command.

The state also would set physical, educational and character standards for police officers.

Gurman estimated the cost at $100,000 to $1.5 million per year, depending upon the extent to which it is implemented.

The proposal was endorsed by Edward L. Dowd, president of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners.

Another witness, Jefferson County juvenile officer Gilbert J. Long, called for greater state financial participation in treatment of juvenile offenders and staffing of juvenile courts.

Donald A. Checkett, chief of special services for the St. Louis Human Development Corp., told the committee the State Training School for Boys at Boonville is "too large, too understaffed and the program too lacking to make it anything other than, at best, cold storage, and at worst, punitively ineffective."

Newell S. Ferry of the city and county Legal Aid Society called for a public defender system for juveniles.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I read a letter in your column from a 16-year-old girl who signed herself "Sour Sixteen." She said she hated her father because he was a drunk and embarrassed her in front of friends. It took until now to get up the courage to answer her. I hope you will print my reply.

Dear Sour Sixteen: I am sorry for you, but not because your father has caused you embarrassment. I am sorry because you are filled with hate and bitterness. This will cause you more harm than anything your father could do or say.

I am also 16. My father died last year from a liver disease. He was an alcoholic as far back as I can remember. My father said and did some disgraceful things, too, but he never disgraced me, poor man, only himself. And I know, too, that after he sobered up he was miserable and ashamed.

Now that my father is gone I remember the few kind and thoughtful things he did for me. There are so many little things that you don't notice but once they are gone you will miss them.

I am sad knowing that when I marry I will not walk down the aisle on my father's arm. I am sad, too, knowing that my father will not be here to see me become the woman I will some day be.

Please give your father a kiss for me because I cherish the memory of the few kisses my own father gave me and I will never know them again. — ALSO SIXTEEN

Dear Friend: You speak of the woman you will some day be. You are already more of a woman than many who are three times your age. Such compassion and insight is rare at any age. I salute you.

Dear Ann Landers: For those married men who have gotten themselves messed up with another woman I would like to relate this little incident:

I work in a restaurant and I meet all kinds of people. This rather attractive but depressed looking man came in at 8:00 a.m. for breakfast. I knew him and I knew his history. He was married but living apart from his wife and three nice kids. The reason: a bottle blonde who works in his office.

This particular morning he sat down at a corner table and with sort of a catch in his voice said, "I'd like a glass of warm orange juice, two slices of burnt toast, two cold fried eggs, and a cup of warmed-over coffee. And please sit down and nag me. I'm homesick." — MR. B.

Dear Mr. B.: Why didn't you tell him to go home and get the real thing? I'll bet his wife and kids would be happy to see him.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 15 and have been bugged by something for the last three years. My girl friend has the same problem, only not as bad.

I do babysitting and save my money to buy gifts and things I really need. Three times since January my mother has asked me to lend her money (the last time it was $6.) She promised she would pay it back by Saturday. Well, that was three Saturdays ago and I still don't have my money. This morning when I reminded her again she mumbled something about a light bill. Now I'm sure she will never repay the $6, just as she didn't repay the $4 and the $7.

Is there a solution? Please come up with something. — NEW MEXICO

Dear New: Bank your money instead of letting it lie around the house.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (c) 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate happy with the blues?

Why this overwhelming preference for Blue Cross-Blue Shield among seven out of our 10 largest American companies?

Why, indeed, do more than 383,000 business firms across the country have "Blue Plan" coverage for their employees?

A simple answer is—Blue Cross and Blue Shield are the plans that come through for you. For your employees, certainly. But for you, too. Here are four big ways:

1. Full value for every dues dollar. Blue Cross-Blue Shield keeps less than 8¢ out of every dues dollar for administrative expenses. More than 92¢ of each dollar goes for hospital and medical care for members.

2. You have no claim handling, no paper work. For basic benefits, Blue Cross-Blue Shield automatically handles claim reporting and payment direct with doctors and hospitals. No time spent by you in follow-ups. (A recent study for a national employer enrolled in a commercial insurance program showed that it cost the firm $5.50 to handle a single hospital claim!)

3. These plans fit right into your insurance package. We can write the hospital-medical part of any insurance package. We will work with the other carriers in the package. We can even handle the billing for the entire package!

4. Almost infinite variety of benefit combinations. Your group has the freedom to build, tailor, design the program that fits your needs and objectives—to a T.

Let's talk it over!

It will take very little of your time to investigate the benefits, the many extra features, your group could enjoy with Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

And there's no obligation, of course, except to your employees who rely upon you so much to provide them with the very best group health benefits program.

The first step is easy. Simply call Fred Kohlmeier, LO 1-8700, Extension 304. He will set up an appointment convenient for you. Or, write to him at Blue Cross-Blue Shield, Box 169, Kansas City, Missouri 64141.

No Time for Complacency

Boiled down the special election next Tuesday is a proposition to issue general obligation industrial bonds of the City of Sedalia to the amount of $750,000 for the purpose of purchasing and constructing an industrial plant to be leased and otherwise disposed of to Rival Manufacturing Company, a Missouri corporation, for manufacturing and industrial development purposes, including real estate, buildings, equipment and fixtures.

Through a lease agreement, to be signed by Rival and the City after the bonds have been approved, the Company guarantees all payments, and has pledged its net worth against such an obligation. The principal, interest, sinking fund and election expenses will be paid by Rival.

No tax increase on tangible taxable property is intended as long as Rival is in existence.

Here is a proposal for Sedalians to help themselves by helping a neighbor increase productive power and add 150 more people to the 450 now on the payroll.

Need exists for a united front on measures designed to promote growth. Year after year we hear this subject discussed. Sometimes it is charged that Sedalia has an image of self-satisfaction and not enough concern for evident deficiencies.

This attitude of a minority should not prevail when it comes to such proposals as we now have before us, or those of like importance which we must support in the future.

Positive thinking of the majority is a part of Sedalia's characteristic, but this requires more expression by action, action such as is necessary on behalf of the $750,000 industrial bond issue. Positive thinkers must go to the polls next Tuesday and vote YES for the bond issue.

Good intentions are not worth a whoop if they are not implemented by action.

Presently, concern exists about complacency of many citizens who are for the bond issue but who may not vote because they think the bonds will be approved anyhow without them.

Many an election has been lost by such attitudes.

Next Tuesday the bonds must be approved by two-thirds vote. That's a big hump to climb over. Similar ones have never been mounted because of too much advance optimism.

Sedalians are urged not to take this latest proposal too much for granted affirmatively. It should pass with much more than two-thirds if for no other reason than the promotional effect it will have on other industries and individuals scouting around for a place to locate.

A resounding victory will create a good image of Sedalia, not only for the edification of its own citizens but those throughout Missouri and elsewhere who, we may be sure, will be watching the outcome.

Make a date with the polls for next Tuesday to vote YES and thereby encourage our community to grow and expand its economy, the benefits of which will rub off on everyone.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Leadership Stalls Antipoverty

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — Nearly five months after money was supposed to be voted for a new antipoverty program, that money, as of last week, had not been voted. And for a time antipoverty workers were working without salary. Chief reason for this inexcusable delay was the well known opposition of Republican leaders to the antipoverty program. Not well known is another reason: The ineptness of Democratic leadership in the House of Representatives.

Here is the backstage story of what happened last week. On Monday, gaunt, gray John McCormack, E-Mass., the beloved but tumbling speaker, scheduled a full-dress debate and a vote on the antipoverty bill. However, Speaker McCormack also placed 21 other bills on the agenda ahead of the antipoverty vote. They included such chicken-feed measures as the transfer of three plots of land owned by the federal government in Lander, Wyo., the naming of a federal office building in Detroit, the extension of secret service protection to Mrs. Kennedy and her children, and the cancellation of construction costs at the Fort Peck Indian reservation.

Debate on these picayunish bills lasted six hours. By that time it was too late to reach a vote on antipoverty.

Next day, Jack Garner, former Speaker and former Vice President, died, and the House suspended deliberations out of respect.

—GOP Reversal—

Next day, debate continued. Tremendous support for the OEO program began to roll up from mayors all over the country. Mayor William Walsh of Syracuse, Mayor Frank Lamb of Rochester, Mayor Louie Welch of Houston, Mayor Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis—all registered their support. GOP opposition began to boomerang.

Said Sen. Ed Brooke of Massachusetts, himself a Republican: "It's a disgrace what the Republican party has been trying to do to this bill."

Another Republican, Mrs. Frances Bolton of Cleveland, who had never voted for the antipoverty program, made a moving speech for its support.

Just as momentum for the bill was increasing, Congress recessed for the Veterans Day holiday weekend.

Sargent Shriver commented bitterly to his staff: "The poor always get the dirty end of the stick. Now people who work for the poor also get the dirty end of the stick."

Finally Congress relented on at least one point. It voted a stop-gap measure to pay salaries to antipoverty, Peace Corps and foreign aid workers.

But if Speaker McCormack had not scheduled the 21 chicken-feed bills in advance of the antipoverty debate a week ago Monday, the record of delay might have been different.

Here are some of the bills which he put ahead of antipoverty:

—Plenty of Nothing—

1. Fort Peck Indian Reservation, Mont. — Cancelled delinquent irrigation operation and maintenance charges of $461.40, owed by Indians; irrigation construction costs of $206,902.21, and construction costs of $118,266.64.

2. Lander, Wyo., Land Transfer — Authorized the transfer of three plots of U.S.-owned land in order to purchase other nearby land.

3. International Bridge at Pharr, Tex. — Authorized construction, maintenance and operation of a toll bridge across the Rio Grande.

4. Increase of Timber Survey Authorization — Amended section 9 of the act of May 22, 1928, relating to surveys of timber and other forest resources of the U.S.

5. Special Milk Program — Extended for three years special milk program for the armed forces and veterans' hospitals.

6. Accumulation of Leave — Authorized members of armed forces to accumulate more than 60 days leave when they serve longer than 120 days of continuous duty in a hostile fire area.

7. Federal Building — Naming federal office building, Detroit, Mich., in honor of the late Patrick V. McNamara.

8. Bus Taxation — Consenting to the entry of Ohio into a bus taxation proration agreement.

9. Simplified Armed Service Laws — Extends service of any member of an armed force for the duration of any war; Secretary of Defense may conduct intensive recruiting campaigns; limits insane, intoxicated, deserters, those convicted of a felony from being enlisted, etc.

10. Declared a Portion of Bayou LaFourche, La., a non-navigable waterway.

11. Amended section 319 of the immigration and nationality act to permit naturalization for certain employees of U. S. nonprofit organizations engaged in disseminating information which significantly promotes U.S. interest.

12. Extended protection of Mrs. Kennedy and children until March 1, 1969.

13. Allowed for transportation of house trailers and mobile dwellings of members of uniformed services.

14. Amending Highway Safety Act of 1966 — To establish National Highway Safety Advisory Committee; to allow each member to hold office for three years.

15. Small-Boat Harbor at Manele Bay, Lanai, Hawaii — Government to assume costs of additional work, $172,000, provided that local interests contribute $124,845.

These were the problems placed ahead of the problem of poverty in the United States.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — I'm working for part of my room and board at college. Is there any chance I'd have to pay tax on this?

A — The general rule is that any credit you receive towards your room and board as compensation for work is counted as taxable income. If this plus any other income you have amounts to $600 or more for the year you will have to file a tax return.

Remember that if your earnings were less than $600 but any Federal income tax was withheld, a return must be filed to obtain a refund.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

New Star Shines Among Senators

By BRUCE BIOSSAT, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

When you can find a handsome westerner who rattles off Shakespeare from memory and is reputedly the smartest, toughest man on President Johnson's riot commission, it's too early to say that—except for the Kennedys—the Senate has lost its color.

Democratic Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, just turning 37, is the new star beginning to shine through the Senate's gray murk.

At mid-November, Harris has just had his first mention as a future vice presidential possibility, in a New England newspaper's profile on, yes, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York. There will surely be more.

Harris is said to have chewed up a fat stack of books on the nation's urban-racial dilemma. He is the only member of the commission who is also on the Senate's Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, which currently is conducting its own probe of riots and their causes. He often chairs the group.

Hard, contentious questioning of the sort Harris is employing behind closed commission doors is not new to him.

Last year a Senate subcommittee headed by Connecticut Sen. Abraham Ribicoff got a lot of headlines for Ribicoff and Bob Kennedy as the group delved into city problems. Sharp listeners noted that Fred Harris was no less searching and tenacious a questioner than his more celebrated colleagues.

The Oklahoman is likewise busy on the Senate Finance Committee, which lately has been hacking through the thickets of Social Security-Medicare. One day recently, Harris sat down at a cafeteria table in the Senate Office Building and, with an aide scribbling, banged out the substance of a couple of Social Security amendments. He sounded as if he had written the basic law. Both changes were adopted.

Almost unnoticed outside the field, he has made himself an expert in education, science and government research. He heads a subcommittee on the latter. The specialists in this realm love him and keep telling him so in places like Science magazine.

For those who did not know him, which meant almost everybody outside Oklahoma, he seemed the spoiler who crushed sports fans' romantic notion of getting former Oklahoma football coach Ernest (Bud) Wilkinson, Republican, into the Senate.

Harris is making the wise ones forget the old coach. He devours books as some people munch chocolates. His off-cuff replies to newsmen's questions spray facts right off the top shelf. Shakespeare, George Bernard Shaw, Francis Bacon and others are quoted with an ease that should make quite a dent out there in Kennedy-land, where literary allusions are big.

Harris is no novice in foreign affairs, either. This April he made a knowledgeable talk on NATO in Cincinnati. He attended a Bonn conference of world parliamentarians this spring and soon will visit London for a big public welfare parley.

He stands pretty much with the President on Vietnam. That puts him in "the establishment," but the record shows he is just about as tough an "inside critic" as the establishment has.

A Winnipeg reader writes, "Here is a hand that caused a lot of trouble in a recent tournament. I opened one club. Partner responded one diamond. West bid a spade and I raised to two diamonds. Partner bid two hearts, I bid three clubs, he went to three diamonds and I passed. Everything broke nicely and he had no trouble making a slam. He felt that I should have bid more. I contend that I had opened with only 10 high card points and that he should have bid more with his 13. Should I have opened, and how should we have bid from then on?"

North surely should have opened the bidding. He only has 10 H. C. P. but he has two aces, two singletons and a seven-card suit that he can rebid if necessary. The bidding in the box shows how six could be reached. It starts out just the same way our friend started, but we feel that he should not have passed at three diamonds.

When you open a hand with 7-4-1-1 distribution and your partner bids your four-card suit, your hand improves a lot. When he repeats his bid, your hand moves up still further, and we think our reader should have rebid three spades.

The three-spade call is one of those all-purpose cue bids. It doesn't mean anything except that it is forcing. South doesn't know what it means, but he tries three no-trump because he thinks that North may be showing something like queen-small in spades.

When North goes to four diamonds, South realizes that North was showing first, or maybe only second round spade control. In either case, South's king of clubs looks like the card to guarantee a slam and South jumps to six diamonds.

This looks easy when you see both hands. In practice, we wouldn't quarrel with a direct four-diamond bid by North. That would get the partnership to game at least, but we don't like North's pass of three diamonds.

HEARNES, KING SUPPORT ELDERLY BENEFIT RAISE

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and House Minority Leader R. J. (Bus) King, Jr. (R-Clayton) are still arguing over details, but both strongly support passing increases in maximum state welfare assistance to the elderly in the upcoming special session.

The Legislature will convene in January to approve the state appropriations for 1968-69, but some legislative matters also will be put on the agenda by the governor. The governor must specify items to be considered by such a special session.

The governor recently announced he would place this issue before the special session with his support—but Rep. King criticizes this move as coming a year too late, since the 56 Republicans in the House supported such an increase in the last session, and the Democratic majority rejected it, he said.

In addition, King contends the proposed increase from $75 to $80 in maximum monthly assistance payments would only affect 65,000 of the nearly 95,000 elderly recipients on the welfare rolls.

In straight statistics, this is true, according to Proctor N. Carter, director of the Division of Welfare, but he explained that an equivalent $5 increase would be provided for the additional 30,000 elderly.

The figure of 65,000 represents only those elderly recipients who are receiving the maximum monthly payments. For recipients who are getting less than this, Carter said allowances would be changes for food or other items to the equivalent of $5 a month to account for rises in the cost of living.

SUIT TO CHALLENGE TOLL ROAD LEGALITY

Attorneys for the Associated General Contractors of Missouri and the State Highway Commission expect this week to ask the Missouri Supreme Court to place a case on its docket to test the constitutionality of a bill to build and operate toll roads.

The bill, passed by the last General Assembly, authorizes the Missouri Turnpike Authority—including the State Highway Commission and the Governor—to build and operate toll roads.

The major issue in contention is a provision allowing the State Highway Commission to lease these highways and to pay for the bonds out of state road funds.

Since an urgent constitutional question is involved, the attorneys desire to file a special writ with the Supreme Court asking it to consider the case in this term of court.

Robert J. Hyder, chief counsel for the State Highway Department, said he hopes the court will accept the case without oral argument, and render a decision on the briefs submitted.

If this is done, and the court declares the law constitutional, work could begin on toll roads by early next year, Hyder said.

PHILLIPS HOPES FOR NEW ASSESSMENT LAW

The chairman of the State Tax Commission, Hunter Phillips, said the commission again will sponsor a bill in the next regular session of the General Assembly to equalize property assessments in the state.

A similar bill, which would have authorized the commission to order a county to reassess its property if it did not meet certain assessment standards, was defeated in the last session after passing the House with few negative votes.

The bill would have permitted a reassessment order if the difference between the highest and the lowest assessment bases in a county was more than 25 per cent. He explained that there was some confusion as to the way this was stated in the last bill, but still termed the measure "the greatest tax reform bill ever introduced in the state."

The purpose of such legislation, he said, is not to produce additional revenue, but to equalize property assessments so that all taxpayers are assessed on the same basis.

He stated that there appears to be little opposition to such a bill from most of the county courts, and that these reforms will have to be made sometime in the near future. He doubted, however, that the bill could be brought up in January at the special legislative session.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Perspire Profusely? Use More Salt, Water

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—A 16-year-old is troubled with excessive sweating of her hands. She takes five hand towels to school with her every day. Her doctor says nothing can be done for her but that she may outgrow it. What causes this condition? Do you know of any treatment for it?

A—Persons who sweat excessively are usually very high-strung. They will not outgrow this but in time they may learn to relax and take the ordinary stresses and frustrations of life more calmly. Meanwhile, this girl may want to try one of the over-the-counter antiperspirants. Since some work better than others for certain persons, she should try several and see which one helps her most.

The prescription drug, phenoxylbenzamine (Dibenzylamine), or one of several belladonna products, taken under medical supervision, may help her.

Q—In the treatment of psoriasis, do the advantages of Methotrexate outweigh the disadvantages? Is the drug used internally?

A—This drug, which is taken by mouth, is used chiefly in the treatment of leukemia. It is recommended for only the severest cases of psoriasis when they fail to respond to other forms of treatment. It should not be used by persons who are taking other drugs, who have an infection or who have anemia or kidney or liver disease. It is available only on a doctor's prescription and must be taken under close medical supervision. In about 75 per cent of those on whom it is used it keeps the disease under control but does not cure it.

Q—Following an operation, my doctor put a drainage tube in the operation wound. What is this for?

A—When, in spite of aseptic precautions, there is danger that the operation wound may be infected, a drainage tube is placed in the wound. Then, a bit of it is withdrawn every day or two. This allows the wound to heal from within. If the wound was closed without drainage an abscess would be likely to form beneath the closed incision.

Ex-Con Literary Figure

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP) — The door was ajar, and a voice inside the bungalow said, "Come on in."

So author Malcolm Braly and his sister, Barbara Millers of Huntington Beach, Calif., entered the house to meet the mother they hadn't seen for 35 years.

Then what happened?
"We did the only logical thing under such circumstances," Braly reported. "We all got drunk."

The reunion resulted from publication of Braly's well-reviewed novel, "On the Yard," a searingly realistic view of prison life as seen from the inside. As many authors do nowadays, Braly was subjected to the television-radio publicity campaign. One of his interviews was on NBC's "Today."

His mother, Katherine Cohen of Culver City, saw the show and recognized him, especially by the way he pronounced his name, "Brawley." She telegraphed him to get in touch with her.

The meeting was another chapter in the amazing life of Malcolm Braly, convict author. He was born 42 years ago in Portland, Ore., then moved to Los Angeles, where his parents' marriage fell apart. He was 7 when his mother left the family, 14 when his father went away. His teen-age years were spent in Shasta County, Calif., mostly in trouble.

In and out of reformatories and jails from the age of 17, he ran into big trouble in 1952 when he and a buddy tried to rob a San Francisco home.

Braly was apprehended and convicted of robbery and burglary. The sentence: one year to life.

Inside San Quentin he settled down to the dreariness of prison life. He trained himself to be a clerk so he would have access to a prison typewriter.

Braly's writings reached Knox Burger, chief editor of Gold Medal Books in New York. He was impressed and bought two suspense novels by Braly for paperback publication. After 10 years of imprisonment, the author was given a parole. The fact that he had earned $10,000 from his writings helped convince the parole board that he could make it on the outside.

Braly is now an associated editor of Gold Medal.

Devaluation Haunts Wilson Government

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — When the British pound sterling is discussed these days, the talk inevitably turns to the probability that the government might decide to lower its official value.

Such talk is like pouring salt into an open sore in the hide of the British Labor government, for devaluation is the very thing it has dedicated itself to avoiding—but always finds itself facing.

As some financial men view it, the longer the British economy remains weak in relation to some of its neighbors, the greater is the chance that the government

Family Along On Last Run

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Twenty-three members of Lee Porter's family went with him as passengers when he made his final run as a conductor on the Rock Island Lines.

The Trenton, Mo., railroader's 85-year-old mother, Mrs. James Porter, his two sons and other relatives almost filled a car as it left Kansas City Sunday morning.

On the way to Des Moines, Iowa, railroad friends came into the car to wish Porter well after 46 years with the road. The group toured Des Moines on a chartered bus and had a picnic lunch at the railroad road station.

Meanwhile a Rock Island freight train derailed near Mercer, Mo., blocking the route between Des Moines and Kansas City.

The Rock Island solved the problem — it sent the Porters back to Kansas City aboard a chartered bus.

Long Work Hours

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian horse cart drivers work an average of 310 days a year and 10 to 12 hours a day, a government survey reported. Eighty per cent of the drivers would take other jobs if they could find them, the survey also said.

ment might consent to devaluation.

A nation's currency is only as strong as the nation. It is its symbol. A nation cannot have a weak economy and a strong currency.

The more politically aware analysts, however, are quick to point out the damaging loss of confidence in Britain that would result from admitting weakness, from taking the easy way out of paying off the big bills it has run up.

The big question now, however, is this: Can dedication win out over the persistent economic problems that are leading so many analysts to the suspicion that the stated value of the pound is based more on pride than reality.

Presently the British pound is at a parity of $2.80 to the U.S. dollar, a figure that has been maintained since 1949, although with much difficulty.

When Harold Wilson's government took office three years ago rumors of devaluation ran wild. They subsided, however, when Wilson imposed an austerity diet for Britains.

Wilson told his countrymen they would have to work harder, deny themselves pay increases, forego luxuries, raise their productivity and export more goods.

Now, three years later, the government's program, despite some successes, has failed to achieve its goal of building up a favorable trade balance. And the rumors, again, are louder than ever.

If Britain were to devalue, the theorists say, her prices would fall. This would make foreigners more inclined to buy British goods, and thus the adverse balance of payments problem might begin to be corrected.

As if fate was an adversary, another unusual factor is now entering the picture: interest rates. Rising rates in the United States are causing money to be withdrawn from British investments, aggravating the payments situation.

To counter this the British government has been forced to raise its basic interest rate twice in the past three weeks, first from 5.5 per cent to 6 on October 19, and then to 6.5 per cent last week.

Nevertheless, some analysts now say it is going to take even greater inducements to bolster confidence in the pound. An increase to 7 per cent may be in order, they say.

Doubletalk Requires Periodic Brushing Up

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Isn't it about time we had another drill in double talk?

Mustn't get rusty in this vital art, you know, or we may lose our social poise.

Double talk, of course, is the saying of one thing while you're thinking another, usually something exactly opposite. It allows one to be socially acceptable—nay, even widely welcomed—while it also enables one to retain his inner honesty intact.

Some may quibble that double talk is a form of hypocrisy, and indeed it is. But it is often the kind of necessary hypocrisy that salvages our civilization and keeps our sanity. Anyone who never indulges in the protective camouflage of double talk will wind up a pariah or a hermit.

For those seeking to acquire at least a rudimentary skill in double talk here are a few conventional examples of it in quotes—followed by a literal translation of what the sayer was really thinking.

"I can hardly wait for Christmas." —This year I'm going to set a beartrap in my chimney to welcome Santa Claus.

"We're having Thanksgiving with our daughter and son-in-law next week." —After all, they've been married 10 years and ought to be able to afford a turkey finally.

"Remember, when you buy a ticket for our church raffle, you're not only helping out a worthy cause. You have a real chance of winning a brand-new automobile." —Yes, sir, a real fat chance.

"I'm awfully tied up today.

but if you could just come back tomorrow—"My receptionist will tell you that I've left town for several weeks.

"We like to feel that nothin's too good for our customers." —Except maybe a square shake.

"Well, if you've got something on your mind that's bothering you, sit right down now and get it off your chest." —But don't expect me to really listen.

"Frankly, the business picture is so uncertain at this time that we wouldn't feel justified in making a contribution to any political party." —It's too early yet to tell which party is likely to win.

"You know you're the one guy I couldn't want to double talk, Bob." —But if at first I don't succeed, I'll try, try again.

The Hangman

Hangman vs. Etchison

Central States Title On The Line Tonight

A central States title clash will top a triple main-event wrestling program at Convention Hall tonight.

Ready to make the first Sedalia defense of his C.S. crown is the Hangman, a hard-hitting veteran ring warrior who is looking to a long title reign.

That solid showing vaulted Etchison into the top contender's spot. He first overpowered the Hangman under Aussie wrestling rules, then flattened him in the third round of a scheduled 10-round boxing match.

The twin verdicts boosted Etchison's stock and made him a logical contender for the Central States belt.

They'll battle over the best of three-falls distance with a 60-minute time limit. All three events tonight will follow that formula.

Scheduled, too, is a mixed tag team clash that figures to produce some lively, fast-paced action. Making up one tandem will be Verne Bottoms, a stocky, aggressive California gal, and midget Little Bruiser.

On the other side will be pretty Princess Little Cloud and her midget partner, Cowbody Lang. Youthful Ed Sharkey will be in action against Jack Donovan in the other feature. Sharkey will be trying to extend his unbeaten string here.

Starting time is 8:15.

McLaren Dies After Illness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. George W. McLaren, a member of football's Hall of Fame and a former fullback at the University of Pittsburgh, is dead at the age of 71.

The Baltimore dentist, who retired in 1964 as director of industrial recreation at the Martin Marietta Corp., died Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital following a heart attack.

McLaren played at Pitt in 1916-18, and was captain of the 1918 team. He was also on the varsity in basketball and track, served as class president and was an outstanding scholar.

He received a degree in dentistry in 1919, but did not enter private practice until 1930. In the meantime, he was athletic director and head coach of football, basketball and track at Emporia, Kan. State, Arkansas, Cincinnati and Wyoming.

McLaren, a native of Pittsburgh, came to Baltimore in 1948 and joined the Glenn L. Martin Co. In 1962, he became a member of the Maryland Commission on Physical Fitness.

Known as Tank and The Human Bullet during his playing days, McLaren was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1964. His 91-yard touchdown run from scrimmage in 1917 still stands as a Pitt record.

Just last week, he was honored at the university during a homecoming celebration.

Survivors include his widow, the former Evelyn Hodgson, two sons, a daughter and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, with burial in suburban Baltimore County.

nesota still could take the title with a victory with Indiana facing Purdue, ineligible for the trip, the following Saturday.

The Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 30 can grab Wyoming, 9-0, with Penn State or Miami a likely opponent.

Associated Press Sports Writer
UCLA surged into first place in the national college football rankings today, the major development in a shakeup of the Top Ten resulting primarily from another one of Oregon State's poll-axing performances.

The Beavers' 3-0 victory over Southern California last Saturday helped UCLA climb into the No. 1 spot and dumped the Trojans into fourth place, the position vacated by the Bruins.

Oregon State also cut itself in for a slice of the Top Ten pie, taking over eighth place. The Beavers tied UCLA 16-16 on Nov. 4 and beat Purdue on Oct. 21, both at times when the Bruins and Boilermakers were rated second in the poll.

UCLA accumulated 19 votes for the top position and 419 points while Tennessee held second place, collecting 13 first-place votes and 390 points in the latest Associated Press poll.

Purdue advanced two places to third, Indiana, Wyoming and Oklahoma each climbed one place, to fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively.

Notre Dame held ninth position followed by North Carolina State.

A total of 47 sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the latest balloting, conducted on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.

UCLA rebounded from the Oregon State surprise by crushing Washington 48-0 last Saturday. Tennessee routed Tulane 35-14 for its sixth victory. The Volunteers' only setback was to UCLA in the season opener for both teams.

Purdue, 7-1, overwhelmed Minnesota 41-12. Southern California's loss to the giant-killing Beavers was its first of the campaign after eight victories. The Trojans were named the leading team on all except one ballot in last week's voting.

Indiana, unbeaten and untied in eight games, edged Michigan State 14-13. Wyoming, with a perfect record in nine games, routed New Mexico 42-6 while Oklahoma, 6-1, beat Iowa State 52-14. Notre Dame, the defending national champ, trounced Pittsburgh 38-0.

North Carolina State, third a week ago, fell to 10th after losing to Penn State 13-8.

Oregon State replaced Houston in the rankings. The Cougars dropped out despite a 35-18 victory over Memphis State.

UCLA takes on Southern Cal this Saturday in a game that will decide which will be the West Coast Rose Bowl representative. It's the Trojans' final game of the regular campaign.

Wyoming, Oregon State and North Carolina State also wind up their seasons, the Cowboys against the University of Texas at El Paso, the Beavers with Oregon and the Wolfpack against Clemson.

Other games involving ranked teams are: Tennessee-Mississippi, Purdue-Michigan State, Indiana-Minnesota, Oklahoma-Kansas and Notre Dame-Georgia Tech.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

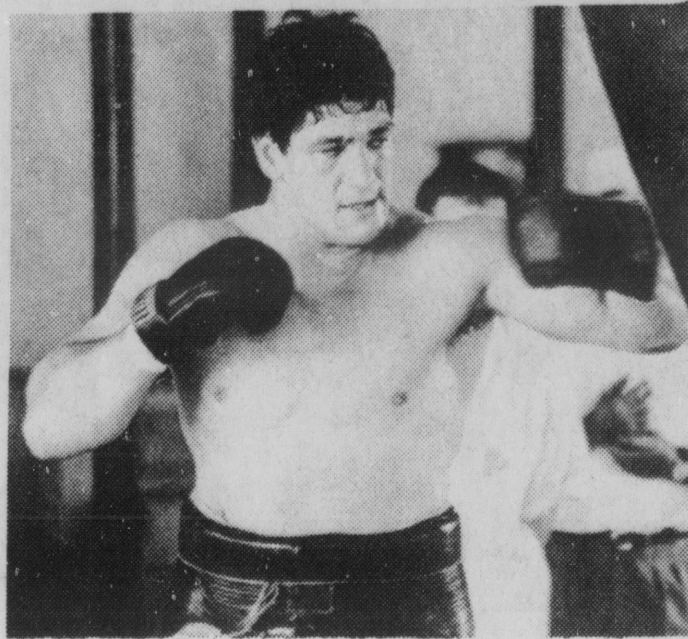

1. UCLA (19) 419
2. Tennessee (13) 390
3. Purdue (8) 343
4. Southern Cal. (5) 330
5. Indiana (1) 265
6. Wyoming 189
7. Oklahoma 154
8. Oregon State (1) 145
9. Notre Dame 131
10. North Carolina St. 84

OSU Tops List

Teams Speculate On Bowl Contests

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Associated Press Sports Writer
Speculation about post-season bowl games was buzzing in Big Eight football camps today. Oklahoma's likely trip to the Orange Bowl heads the list, but four other league teams are definitely in the bowl picture.

Oklahoma can clinch at least a tie for the Big Eight crown by beating runner-up Kansas Saturday at Norman, Okla. If OU wins, the Sooners are considered a cinch to get the Orange Bowl bid opposite Tennessee, if it gets by Mississippi.

The Orange Bowl officials apparently are willing to gamble that Oklahoma would at least split its last two games, tie one and lose another, or tie both, to get an undisputed crown. The Sooners face Nebraska Thanksgiving Day and Oklahoma State Dec. 2.

Colorado, Nebraska, and Missouri, all 6-2, would be prime bowl material with a runner-up 8-2 record. All three, at this stage, have a shot at the Gator, Bluebonnet, Liberty and Sun bowls, although the Nebraska-Missouri loser might drop out.

Kansas has a bowl chance because the Jayhawks could at least tie for the Big Eight crown at 6-1, offsetting a 6-4 season mark, by winning their last two with Oklahoma and Missouri.

Cotton Bowl officials will watch Colorado against K-State Saturday at Manhattan. Liberty Bowl officials saw Missouri against K-State last week and Cotton scouts also watched Colorado-Kansas. Nebraska already has been viewed by various bowl scouts.

Prelude For Rich Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — A pro-amateur tournament today provided a prelude to the $115,000 Haig Scotch Championship golf tournament starting Thursday at La Costa country club with an all-male cast.

In past years, there have been men and women partners in the 72-hole tournament but this time 144 men will compete for the cash.

The pro-amateur preview teams 50 pros with three amateur partners each in a bid for part of a $5,000 purse.

Thirteen winners of PGA tournaments of 1967 will be competing in the tournament proper which has a $22,000 prize for the winning duo. The Scotch format will be used with selective drives and players hitting alternate shots.

Each player hits a tee shot. The better one is chosen for play and the players alternate hitting shots until the ball is holed out.

Three former winners of this tournament are playing and two of them—Sam Snead and Gardnar Dickinson—are paired. Jack Rule won last year with Sandra Spuzich and this year plays with Tommy Aaron.

Hull Has Chance At A Record

NEW YORK (AP) — If Chicago's Bobby Hull continues his goal-a-game pace through the next month, he'll crash the National Hockey League's exclusive 400 Club before Christmas.

Hull has blasted 14 goals in 14 games and needs 16 more to become the fourth 400-goal scorer in NHL history. At his current clip, the Black Hawks' left winger will reach the milestone on Dec. 16 — and then go on to shatter his own season record of 54 tallies set two years ago.

Detroit's Gordie Howe is the all-time leader with 659 career goals, including 10 this season. Former Montreal ace Maurice Richard, with 544, and Jean Beliveau, the Canadiens' current captain, with 406, are the other 400-plus snipers.

With three goals last week, Hull boosted his league-leading point total to 21, three more than runner-up Howe, who picked up a pair of assists during the week. Montreal's Yvan Cournoyer is third with 17 points, followed by Jean Ratelle of New York with 16.

Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh and Billy Hicke of Oakland are the top scorers in the new West Division with eight goals and seven assists apiece.

Detroit center Alex Delvecchio, tied with five others for the seventh spot at 14 points, leads the playmakers with 13 assists.

Philadelphia's goalie tandem of Bernie Parent and Doug Favell have compiled a league leading goals-against mark of 2.08 per game for the Flyers. Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble of Toronto are second with a 2.27 average.

Defensesman Ted Green of Boston tops the penalty parade with 40 minutes, one more than his former teammate Joe Watson, now with Philadelphia.

Kicker Is Feared By Coaches

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fellow with the long name could provide a short field for UCLA when the Bruins battle the Southern California Trojans on Saturday in the Rose Bowl decider.

Zenon Andrusyshyn does the punting and place kicking for Coach Tommy Prothro's undefeated club, and rival coach John McKay of Southern California declared, "He's so fantastic the field becomes shorter."

McKay explained to the Southern California Football Writers that UCLA doesn't have to penetrate so far to put Andrusyshyn into position for a field goal, and his 46-yard punting average gives rivals a longer way to go when they get the ball.

The sophomore from Canada ranks second to Gary Beban in UCLA scoring with 60 points, 27 on conversions and 33 on field goals. He tried a 58-yarder against Washington last Saturday that hit the upright above the crossbar. He has failed to kick a field goal in only two games this season.

Andrusyshyn suffered a cracked bone in his right hand late in the Washington game, but that won't keep him out of action.

"We have to stop Beban and Greg Jones to keep UCLA from the 50 so Andrusyshyn can't kick the field goals," McKay commented wryly.

Prothro declared his Bruins will face "the biggest, fastest college squad I know of," and lauded the Trojans' ace halfback O. J. Simpson as "big, fast, agile and nifty."

USC has lost wingback Jim Lawrence who suffered a knee injury in the 3-0 loss to Oregon State last Saturday and underwent surgery. Earl McCulloch moves from split end to the backfield and Ron Drake takes over the end position.

In Big Eight

Warmack Named Back of Week

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Big Eight Back of the Week is Oklahoma's Bob Warmack, already within easy reach of OU's career passing records as a junior, and a good bet to become the third 4,000-yard total offense player in Big Eight history.

Warmack ripped Iowa State for 218 yards in less than 32 minutes of action Saturday. He got the second touchdown on a dazzling 25-yard run and retired after his 76-yard TD pass to Steve Zabel made it 40-0 with just 1:51 gone in the second half.

He was chosen over Nebraska's Ben Gregory, who blasted through Oklahoma State for 120 yards rushing and graded 100 per cent on blocking.

"Bob turned another fine job for us," said Coach Chuck Fairbanks of his 6-foot, 170-pound quarterback. Fairbanks said Warmack has shown unusual coolness under fire all season. He's been poised and polished all the way.

Warmack has hit 50 of 87 passes for 766 yards and four TDs this season and gained 239 rushing for 1,005 total offense. In seven games. His average of 143.6 a game is second only to Bob Douglass of Kansas and his 6.32 average per play leads the league, with Douglass next at 5.23.

With 2,183 yards total offense in 17 college games, Warmack needs only to maintain his current season average to reach 4,000, a mark reached only by Paul Christman, Missouri '40, and Dave Hoppmann, Iowa State '62. And it's likely Warmack will have a pair of bowl games to help him.

His teammates awarded him the Iowa State game ball for a performance typical of his entire season. He has quarterbacked 22 TD drives this fall, 15 of them over 60 yards.

The Big Eight had some other outstanding nominees. Douglass had 226 yards total offense against Colorado, his fourth consecutive game over 200. He needs 264 the last two games to smash the conference season record of 1,749.

Missouri's Jon Staggers, with the Tigers trailing K-State 6-0, scampered 50 yards for a TD on a play that started as a half-back pass. He also made a crack-back block to spring Gary Kombrink for the second TD.

Colorado's John Farler returned after an injury, giving the Buff backfield the lift it needed. He made key runs of 19 and 10 on reverses to get the Buffs out of holes and a diving pass catch enabling them to keep the ball late in the game.

Other nominees were Oklahoma State's Benny Goodwin, 8 tackles and a pass interception; K-State's Bob Coble for his 43-yard punting mark; and Iowa State's Les Webster for his excellent blocking.

The Big Eight Lineman of the week was All America Wayne Meylan, Nebraska middle guard for his 13 tackles and great pass rush, chosen over K-State's Danny Lankas, with 28 tackles, 14 unassisted, at Linebacker.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(NEA)—The American Road Race of Champions, known as the World Series of racing, caps a long Thanksgiving weekend in the Daytona sun for enthusiasts of auto racing, golf, fashion and antique automobiles.

More than 350 drivers from all parts of the country, plus their wives or girl friends and crews will begin arriving at the fast Daytona International Speedway on November 22 to prepare and test their cars for the world's biggest racing spectacle that weekend.

The American Road Race of Champions this year is sponsored by Newspaper Enterprise Association, this newspaper and Nine Flags International, makers of men's shaving colognes and thermal shaving foam.

These racing cars—in all shapes and sizes—are worth considerably more than a million dollars. They will be joined by a group of equally expensive automobiles at least 40 to 50 years old.

The vintage cars will be in

VISITORS TO DAYTIME may take the 50-cent tour of the multimillion-dollar Daytona International Speedway, including the high-banked turns.

nearby Ormond Beach for the 10th Annual Antique Car Meet. The competition covers everything from short, quarter-mile sprints on the beach course to awards for the best-costumed drivers and owners.

The meet takes spectators back to the bygone days of auto racing on the hard-packed sands that were later to become known as the "World's Most Famous Beach." Ormond Beach is the site of the original Gasoline Alley and is called the "Birthplace of Speed."

Thanksgiving vacationers will move abruptly to time present at the American Road

Race of Champions. The participating drivers are all champions, having already won major races this season in their home states. They'll be competing for the 22 Nine Flags Trophies, one for each racing car class in the Sports Car Club of America.

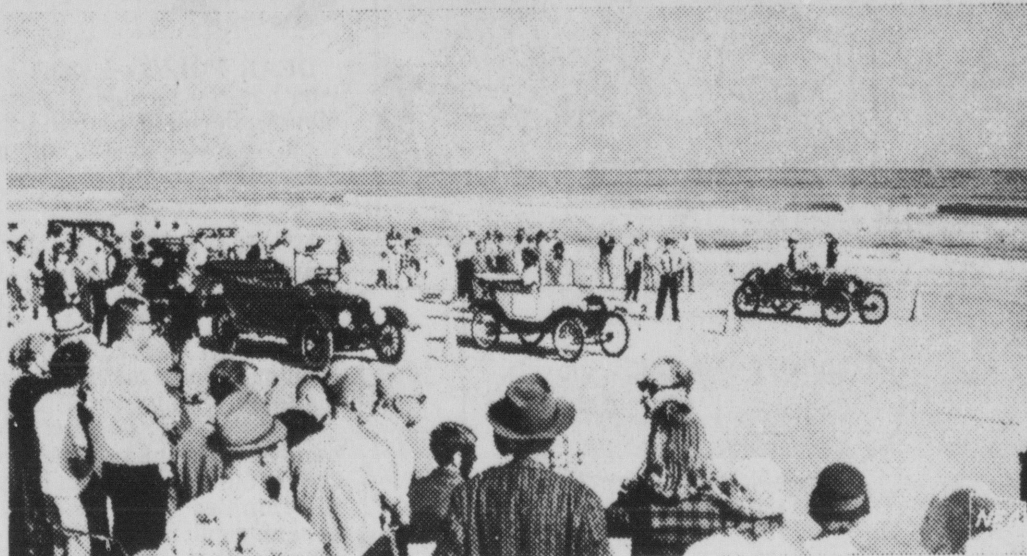

Champions also receive

Heuer chronograph watches and driving jackets of Celanese Fortrel and cotton designed by Catalina-Martin. Celanese is also preparing a fashion show for participants, spectators and residents of the Daytona Beach area.

The third big event during the Daytona Thanksgiving weekend is the Pontiac Open Golf Tournament at the Riviera Country Club in Ormond Beach. It's part of the Professional Golfers' Association Winter Tour and some of the country's top pros will be entered in the event.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of Thanksgiving in Daytona is the 10th Annual Antique Car Meet at nearby Ormond Beach. The vintage autos actually race on the beach.

Huge Task: Trying to 'Buck' Ernie

By TOMMY THOMAS
NEA Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY—(NEA)—When Randy Rasmussen went down in his stance and looked up he thought he was probably behind the Berlin Wall or maybe in Sherwood Forest. Something was blotting the sun out.

Rasmussen is a rookie left guard for the New York Jets. A year ago he was an outstanding tackle at a small college power in Nebraska called Kearney State. But now he was suddenly gazing across the scrimmage line at Ernie Ladd, the Kansas City Chiefs' 6-9, 290-pound defensive tackle.

Perhaps Rasmussen should have felt relieved a few plays later when Ladd moved to the opposite side and Buck Buchanan, a mere 6-7 and 287 pounds, moved in across from Randy. It was like sending in King Kong for Godzilla.

"My neck feels about two inches shorter," Rasmussen commented later. "Those guys really do a job on you. They're both clean players but really rugged. Ladd is so tall he can be five yards away and still maul you with those forearms. They're like tree trunks."

"Buchanan is a little quicker than Ernie and he's real effective on the pass rush (the deflected four of Joe Namath's passes in one game). I was dropping back at first, giving him too much ground. I learned quick that I had to come out to him or he was going to take my head off."

"No, they didn't say much to me during the game. They let their actions speak for them."

Rasmussen's learning process has been typical for a rookie. Earlier he had said that Tom Keating of Denver had given him the most trouble this season. That was before he ran into Ernie and Buck and before the Broncos cut Keating.

Ladd and Buchanan, both products of Louisiana's Grambling College, form the largest defensive tackle combination in pro football. Sort of a two-man Fearsome Foursome.

Buchanan, 27, has been a starter since he broke in with the Chiefs five years ago. Ladd, a seven-year veteran at 28, played with San Diego and Houston before coming to Kansas City this season.

Rasmussen, at 6-2 and 260, is no lightweight himself. A native of Elba, Neb., he weighed 275 in college while playing both ways. He gave up the extra weight for quickness. Randy has a younger and bigger brother playing at Kearney State who also hopes to make it with the pros.

"I feel like I've come along pretty good," says Randy. "but I still have a lot to learn. Now, I'm concentrating on giving Joe plenty of protection—and staying alive."

THE BIGGER they are the harder they fall—on opposing linemen, that is. And if one doesn't get you, the other one will. Kansas City's Buck Buchanan (86) and Ernie Ladd (left) give the Chiefs the hugest defensive tackle combination in pro football.

Clark, Rocketing Round Rockingham Found in Stocks: 'You Just Step On It'

By BOB COCHNAR

ROCKINGHAM, N.C.—(NEA)—"Wal, ma'am," Jimmie Clark was saying to the waitress in the best Southern Scottish drawl he could muster. "Ah'd lahk some country ham an' grits and some pecan pah with ashcream. Thank you-all."

The corn-pone chatter was part of his effort to associate himself with the Southern pastime, stock car racing, which really, all things considered, was never his bag.

Bill France, master promoter and NASCAR honcho, had convinced the Formula 1 champion and several other Grand Prix drivers to give Grand National racing a try. So here he was, in Rockingham, N.C., wrestling a fat Ford Fairlane around the one-mile oval of the North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Clark was fresh from his triumph at the Mexican Grand Prix where he won the lordly sum of $3,000 (Bobby Allison, winner of the American 500 at Rockingham, picked up a check for $16,050). "Stock car racing," Clark admits, "has its points."

It was quite an international affair. Wee Jimmie was joined by Ludovico Scarfiotti, the Ferrari F-1 ace, and Jochen Rindt, who'll be driving for Jack Brabham next year on the Grand Prix circuit.

Grand National racing isn't precisely the gentleman's sport that Grand Prix racing is. Jimmie's 145 pounds work fine in a skinny F-1 machine but in a full-sized American stocker it's a decided disadvantage. Clark could hardly reach the pedals. He was competing against tough Southerners who used every trick to negotiate the slambang, metal-to-metal, hell-for-leather bull rings of the South.

"My little arms got to be a bit tired turning that big wheel for 150 miles," he confessed. "But I don't think this oval racing is any tougher than road courses. Once you get in the groove, it's just a matter of doing a couple of things a lap."

"You don't have to shift gears or brake—things which are necessary on the Grand Prix circuit. All you have to do is drive a bloody bomb as fast as you can and sneak through the traffic."

Jimmie Clark did have a lot of respect for stock car drivers, however. "It's a chancy afternoon of racing," he said. "I can understand why 50,000 people will come out and see this type of race. I rather enjoyed watching, too."

Stock car aficionados greeted Jimmy's maiden NASCAR race with some amusement. They didn't much care that Clark is regarded as one of the finest racing drivers ever. To them, he was a rookie and his Ford bumper proved it. It was splashed with the yellow stripe of a tyro.

One cigar-chewing mechanic summed it up:

"Hell's bells. Ol' Richard Petty will blow him off the track."

Well, old Richard blew himself off the track by miscalculating a pit stop. Old Jimmie started the race 25th in a field of 44 drivers and was able to reach the 12th spot before retiring. Not bad for a chap who had never been in a stock car before.

The pros figure that had his car lasted, he'd have wound up in the money.

"It does prove one thing," said Bill France Jr. "You take a skilled driver in one area of the sport, give him time to gain some experience in another area and he'll become a champion there, too. If he wanted to, Clark could be a NASCAR champion."

Homes For Children

Modest Beginning for Big Dream

By Hazel Lang

A home for the homeless, orphaned, handicapped, neglected or abused children and youths, regardless of race, color or creed. That is what the sign on the location three and a half miles south of LaMonte means that reads: "Future Home, Show-Me-Youth Christian Home, LaMonte."

This is a project of the Christian Church, and there is a dream that such homes will be built all over Missouri. When the call went out for donation of land for a home, or group of homes, for unfortunate children, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mahin, LaMonte, never faltered. They gave 28 acres of land which is adjacent to the West Central Service Camp for which they also donated 12 acres of land.

Ready in March

The house parents for the first unit will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hinten, who are eager for the home that is expected to be completed in March, ready for them to start the work they both love so much. Later, as financial support comes, and they have faith that it will, there will be four such units, each with house parents and 10 children. At the present time the Hintens, Stanley and Essilee, and their youngest son, 15-year-old Allan, are living in a mobile home given to them by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry White, Versailles.

After the house is built, the mobile home will become an office, for LaMonte will be the headquarters for all of the units throughout Missouri that the board of directors hope will be built in the future on land donated to them for such homes. Members of the board are Jerry White, Versailles, president; Herbert Prince, West Eminence, vice-president; Jerry Kilson, Crocker, recording secretary; E. T. McLaughlin, Eldon, and Marvin Platt, Leeton, treasurers; Robert Fry, Milan; Robert Benson, Kansas City; Tom Marsh, Kansas City, and William Steffin, Steffenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinten, who are Missourians, have come back to Missouri to start this wonderful program and be the first house parents of the project. Hinten will be the first superintendent. The parents of five sons, two of whom are ministers, one an FBI agent in New York City and one in electronics in New York City, the family lived in Mexico where the father was employed by the A. P. Green Company.

Three of their sons went to Bible school and, said Mrs. Hinten, things like that rub off on you. They heard of such homes for children and for three years were house parents at the Cookson Hills Christian School in Oklahoma, but they wanted to come back to Missouri, and last January they came back. The board began working last November and the plans became a reality June 6, as a non-profit corporation was set up.

From Various Backgrounds

This home will be on the order of where the Hintens were previously, with boys and girls of all ages. There will be 10 children and they will live like a regular family. The children will come from broken homes, welfare, and children turned over to them from juvenile courts—even delinquent children will be welcome in the home. They will go to school in LaMonte. They will take them up to 14 and 15 years of age, and in the home will be youngsters from two to 19 years.

Mrs. Hinten is anxious to start the new family because she has seen the work their previous family, which they hated to leave because of the strong love they had for the children. But still they did want to come back to their home state and help this work get under way.

She has been proud of those who have left that home, particularly two of them. One is a missionary in Puerto Rico, the other has married and he and his wife have become house parents with 12 children.

Mrs. Hinten teaches the girls to work at different types of household jobs. One girl told her she had learned more from her in the two years she had been with her than she had learned all her life from her mother. Many of them have never had nice clothes, but they had them in the home and were taught how to take care of them. The girls help her around the house; the boys help Mr. Hinten with the garden and livestock. Already they have been given a sow for the new unit.

There will be 1,920 square feet in the unit, with a large living room, kitchen and dining room together, and four bedrooms in addition to the bedroom for the house parents.

The water system has been installed and they started Nov. 8, on the lagoon for the sewage system. Applications are being processed by the state for the licensing of the home and the plans drawn for the first unit. A bid has been accepted from the Williams Construction Co., LaMonte, of $18,912, for the first unit.

Will Grow Food

The Hintens have cleaned the fence row on the north side for about a quarter of a mile, and are now cleaning out another fence row on the wood side that will give a few more acres for grass. They hope someday to put out fruit trees in this area. They need things for their garden, where they expect to grow food for their future family. Among the things they need are a tractor and other equipment.

In the home where they were before, they did many things as a family on picnics, roller skating, at youth group meetings, and church, and the Hintens found that this family got along well together. Mrs. Hinten laughed when she remarked that their own five boys didn't get along like that.

When a baby is taken into the home the family becomes even closer.

This is a way to give youngsters a chance, to make good citizens of them; it is much cheaper than welfare and prisons, Mrs. Hinten pointed out. The children are grateful for the opportunity for decent lives, for the love and understanding, the feeling of being wanted, and the hope for the future.

The theme of this building program is "Homes For Christ," and the Bible verse on which it is founded is Matthew 25:40—"Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Hits Tea Break

LONDON (AP) — A hallowed British institution, the tea break, is denounced by Hubert Shirley-Smith, president of the Institute of Civil Engineers. He contends that on building sites it sometimes wastes more than an hour a day per man. Tea breaks became entrenched in industry during World War II "Through weakness of employers," he told an engineer convention.

This is no run-of-the-mill Bourbon.

It's Bourbon with a richer, more robust taste. More of the taste that Bourbon was meant to have.

It's Bourbon aged till the years have rounded out the taste and worn away the edges.

It's Bourbon as smooth as a man could ask for. With all the taste of old-time whiskey, yet easy and mellow going down.

If you know enough to know good Bourbon, this is one worth trying.
